DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

 In response to the Office Action mailed July 12, 2010, applicant submitted an amendment filed on October 6, 2010, in which the applicant traversed and requested reconsideration.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's argues that the prior art cited does not specifically teach speaking the vocabulary data to the speech recognition system in an automated manner using the audio modules so as to expand the vocabulary data. However, automating requires routine skill in the art and as the court held broadly providing an automatic or mechanical means to replace a manual activity which accomplished the same result is not sufficient to distinguish over the prior art (MPEP 2144.04). Therefore, Applicant's arguments have been considered, but are not persuasive.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Application/Control Number: 10/797,382
Art Unit: 2626

 Claims 1, 3, 7-11 and 14-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over lttycheriah et al. (USPN 6,185,530), hereinafter referenced as lttycheriah in view of Lin et al. (PGPUB 2002/0049848), hereinafter referenced as Lin.

Regarding claim 1, Ittycheriah discloses a method for at least one of generating and expanding a vocabulary database of a speech recognition system (vocabulary expansion; column 3, lines 35-51 and column 5, lines 20-54), comprising:

providing a computer-based audio module (computer-based; column 2, lines 60-64 with column 3, line 35 – column 4, line 14); and training the speech recognition system (speech recognition) by acoustic training using the audio module (acoustic; column 3, line 35 – column 4, line 14), wherein the training the speech recognition system is performed by:

providing the audio module with vocabulary data (vocabulary; column 3, line 35 – column 4, line 14 with column 5, lines 20-54); and speaking the vocabulary data (figure 1; speech utterance and element 24 with conventional input devices; column 5, lines 20-54) to the speech recognition system (speech recognition system) in an automated manner using the audio module so as to expand the vocabulary database (vocabulary expansion; column 3, line 35 – column 4, line 14 with column 5, lines 20-54 and column 6, lines 40-42), but does not specifically teach providing an audio module with vocabulary data in a streaming mode from a telecommunications network.

Art Unit: 2626

Lin discloses a method comprising providing an audio module with vocabulary data (paragraphs 0003, 0010 and 0016-0022), to generate updated data.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill of the art at the time the invention was made to modify Ittycheriah's method as described above, to dynamically provide updated data, such that relevant information is stored (paragasphs 0020-0022), as taught by Lin.

Regarding claim 3, lttycheriah discloses a method wherein the training the speech recognition system (speech recognition system) is performed by providing the audio module with vocabulary data from a speech database (column 3, line 35 – column 4, line 14 with column 5, lines 20-54).

Regarding claim 7, Ittycheriah discloses a method of expanding a vocabulary method further comprising creating the speech database by automated speech synthesis of text data using a speech synthesis unit (TTS synthesis; column 5, lines 20-54).

Regarding claim 8, Ittycheriah discloses a method further comprising providing the text data from a text database (text; column 5, lines 20-54).

Regarding claim 9, Ittycheriah discloses a method wherein the audio module includes a speech synthesis unit (speech synthesis), which converts text data to speech data (TTS; column 5, lines 20-54).

Regarding claim 10, Ittycheriah discloses a method further comprising providing the text data from a text database (text; column 5, lines 20-54).

Regarding claim 11, Ittycheriah discloses a method further comprising:

Art Unit: 2626

creating a text database (text) in an automatic manner (automatic; column 5, line 20 - column 6, line 4); and providing the text data to the speech synthesis unit from the text database (synthesis; column 5, lines 20-54).

Regarding claim 14, Ittycheriah discloses a method wherein the creating the text database is performed by automatically (automatically) reading the text data from the at least one text data source using a data processing system and wherein the automatically storing (memory) is performed using the data processing system (processor; column 5, line 20 – column 6, line 4).

Regarding claim 15, Ittycheriah discloses a method comprising:

creating the speech database by automated speech synthesis of text data (TTS synthesis) from a text database using a speech synthesis unit (text; column 5, lines 20-59) and analyzing and processing the text data prior to the speech synthesis (column 5, lines 20-59).

Regarding claim 16, it is interpreted and rejected for similar reasons as set forth in claim 1. In addition, Furman discloses a speech recognition system comprising: a vocabulary database (vocabulary; column 3, line 35 – column 4, line 14); a text database (text; column 5, lines 20-59); and a computer-based audio module (computer based; column 2, lines 60-64 and column 3, line 35 – column 4, line 14) a speech synthesis unit (speech synthesis) configured to receive text data from the text database (text) by acoustic speech input

Art Unit: 2626

(acoustic) and convert the data to speech data, the speech data stored in a speech database (column 3, lines 35-64 with column 5, lines 20-59).

wherein the speech data is spoken into the vocabulary database (vocabulary) in an automated manner (automatically) using the audio module so as to expand the vocabulary database (vocabulary expansion; column 3, lines 35-64 with column 5, lines 20-59).

Regarding claim 17, it is interpreted and rejected for similar reasons as set forth in claim 1. In addition, Wactlar discloses a method wherein a text database is generated automatically searching a telecommunications network for text data related to a selected search term (searchable text; column 7, lines 21-33 and column 8, lines 20-25 with column 17, lines 37-47).

 Claims 12-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over lttycheriah in view of Besling et al. (USPN 6,363,348), hereinafter referenced as Besling.

Regarding claim 12, Ittycheriah discloses a method for expanding vocabulary, but does not specifically teach using a search engine.

Besling discloses a method comprising:

finding the text data in an internal or external telecommunications network (internet) using at least one search engine, the text data being associated with at least one search term (search; column 9. lines 42-49);

Art Unit: 2626

receiving the text data from at least one text data source (text; column 9, lines 42-49); and automatically storing the text data in the text database (column 7, line 66 – column 9, line 49), for up-to-date textual data.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify littycheriah's method as described above, to create a language model which matches the context identifier and is also available for user by other users having the same interest (column 9, lines 42-49), as taught by Besling.

Regarding claim 13, it is interpreted and rejected for the same reasons as set forth in claim 12. In addition, Besling discloses a method wherein the telecommunications network includes the Internet (Internet; column 6, lines 1-37)

Conclusion

 THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
